GOLD BONDS

OF THE

Central Railroad of Iowa.

At 95, free from Tax.

This railroad runs 364 miles north and south through the finest and most thickly settled portion of the magnificent State of Iowa, and the only link wanting to connect the railway system of St. Louis and St. Paul by an unbroken line, 347 miles shorter than any existing route. Have all the territory it traverses. The Trunk, of the railroad, is the first which reaches the head of Lake Superior, and the rapid growth present from wood and produce country by Minnesota and the Northwest must for this road a large Southern traffic. As the Upper States supply flour and provisions during the Winter months navigation is often impeded during the Summer by low water (the road must have all the enormous amount of transportation which it can supply of this kind at such seasons of the year. Its connections with other lines enable it by mutual contracts to run through cars without change of passengers between the Mississippi River and the Atlantic seaboard, and it will be the shortest route between the two points named.

The road will have a great advantage over any other Western line in the cheapness with which it can be operated, as it runs through a country of unusually favorable grades, and the cost of repairs will be very small. The Northern Pacific and Minnesota Valley roads, which have been found to be the most expensive roads to operate, will have nothing to do with the business which will be tributary to the Central Railroad of Iowa.

The construction of the road is now in progress, and the first section of 100 miles from Dubuque to Cedar Rapids will be completed and in operation by the 1st of July next. The remainder of the line will be completed in 1870, and the whole road will be in operation by the 1st of January, 1871.

The bonds are issued to the amount of $16,000 per mile, and are secured by a first mortgage on the entire line of the road, with all its franchises, rolling stock, and equipments. They are coupon bonds, with interest at seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually in gold, and are free from all taxes. The principal is payable in thirty years, but the bonds are subject to call and payment at par after ten years.

Of which over One Million have already been Sold.

As we consider these securities among the cheapest in the market we have to [illegible] and while they last, send at [illegible] for parties desiring to purchase to forward their orders at once.

WE BELIEVE THERE WILL BE NO MORE FAVORABLE TIME TO SELL GOVERNMENTS, AND BUY REALLY FIRST CLASS RAILROAD SECURITIES SUCH AS THESE THAN THE PRESENT.

We will receive subscriptions at our office, and give further information regarding it, and upon application to the Company's Agent in this city, will furnish pamphlets containing maps of the road, and [illegible] which can be made in the West.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS ON VALUATION.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives in Legislature assembled.

The Commissioners on State Valuation, appointed under Resolves of the Legislature approved February 10, 1869, have completed the [illegible] and ask leave to report

That in compliance with said resolves, they met at time and place indicated, and organized October 14th, by choosing Seth Scamman, Chairman, and Lucius Knight, Clerk.

At this time but a small proportion of the towns had made returns of their valuations, assessments by law, and several weeks elapsed before any were received. Notice was immediately issued to all parties having communications to make to the Board, indicating the time they would be heard.

The blank abstracts furnished towns in which the returns were to be made, not being well adapted to that purpose as they should have been, occasioned a great variety of ways in making the returns, which taken in connection with the greater variety of valuing property, and in many instances an evident design to fix on the occasion, at once showed that the magnitude of the work before us and the short time allowed to mature it would render it necessary to employ considerable clerical force. Accordingly, as sooners from many of the towns had forwarded their returns, it was voted to employ L. G. Philbrook & Co., K. Hatch, E. B. Axtell, Samuel B. Holt, Cyrus W. Longley, Albert N. Ames, and Charles A. Milliken as additional clerks, who entered upon their duties November 16th.

During the first two months of the session we were occupied in a careful examination of the returns made to us, noting the several methods adopted by assessors in valuing property and making the [illegible] and entering in proper abstracts and facts as would enable us to determine the true basis of property, and the part it [illegible] standards and classifications by which we might arrive at satisfactory results. Very much of this time, however, was [illegible] in [illegible] in explanation of their valuations and the peculiar circumstances of each one's locality.

All the [illegible] returned from each town were [illegible] and carefully adopted for the State, and the [illegible] for that standard, from which we varied 5 to 20 per cent [illegible] to quality or quality might indicate. Navigation [illegible] and the value per ton of each class ascertained. All stocks brought to a standard, and the amount of money noted. By these standards and classifications the same species of property in different sections could be readily compared, and added us materially in equalizing all the property through the State.

As the law creating the commission did not provide for any return of the number and value of the townships known as "Wild Lands," except those sold during the last decadent was deemed expedient to invite the owners there to appear before us and give the requisite information. Many of them responded to the call, and [illegible] the session gave us what in their judgment they considered to be the [illegible] value of a considerable portion of these lands. Thus with the detailed account of the number of acres and there value, furnished us by Hon. Parker P. Burleigh, Land Agent, added us very much in determining the [illegible]

In equalizing and fixing the value of estates, real and personal returned to us, we have adopted as a basis that indicated in the returns. Making the total amount of taxable values, inclusive of wild lands, to be $219,100,000 and on wild lands $5,150,356, making a total of $224,822,000, showing an increase of $82,064,570 over 1868. But as the basis adopted is somewhat higher than in sixty, the full amount should not be considered as actual increase.

The [illegible] methods adopted by different sections of the State in placing values upon taxable property—the confused and incomplete returns made of such property, rendering the work of the State Valuation so extremely difficult and unsatisfactory—warrants the Commissioners in recommending in the most positive terms that one plan should be decided upon, and on basis of valuation through out the State.

It should also be made the duty of the County Commissioners, or some authority, to make a return of all plantations that neglect to do so according to law, and also make return of all wild lands.

The [illegible] we have been thanks to gentlemen connected with the several departments of the Government, and to all municipal officers and gentlemen that have rendered us valuable information and assistance in the prosecution of our duties, and also to the superintendent of public buildings and his assistants for the cordiality contributing to our convenience and accommodation.

Respectfully submitted,

SETH SCAMMAN

Troubles in Richmond Va. arose from the fact that municipal officers appointed by the military refuse to recognize the newly elected ones, and decline to surrender authority to them. A Richmond dispatch of the 17th has the following account of the commencement of hostilities:

The Chief of Police, Mayor John Poe, applied at the station house in possession, but was refused. Later in the day, the new Mayor, Mr Ellison applied by letter to Mayor Cahoon for Mayor's office books, &c., but was refused. Cahoon claiming that he was an officer by law and would not yield until ejected by a posse from the court. Cahoon, who had possession of the lower station house swore in 150 special constables, including 70 colored men. These were sworn in 200 special officers and at one o'clock surrounded the lower station house where Cahoon and his special officers are, the plan being to arrest any who came out. Ellison has possession of the City Hall and other public buildings, except the station houses, which are held by the opposite party. The old police force are divided about equally between the two Mayors.

Cahoon sent a letter to Governor Walker, stating his position and asking assistance to maintain his authority to which the Governor replied that Ellison being legally elected, he cannot recognize any one else as Mayor; that Cahoon is incapable of holding the office under the laws of Virginia, as he already holds a Federal office, that he should resort to a peaceful remedy if he wants to test the question of his right, and finally says he should obey the laws and sustain the constituted authorities. Ex-Gov Wise, Judges R. A. Hughes and L. T. Chandler are counsel for Mayor Cahoon, who, with about 30 men, is still in the lower station-house. The besieging force has cut off the gas and water, and forbid that any provisions be sent them. The crowd of colored men brought out a battery and commenced throwing bricks at the besieged, but when the police of the special police. All was quiet [illegible] Early [illegible] Mayor Ellison, the Chief of Police and others were arrested by the U. S. Marshal for having refused the Revenue officer permission to see Cahoon in his character as U. S. Commissioner. They were bailed until to-morrow. A company of troops has been brought into the city by order of Gen. Canby. Judge Underwood will arrive to-morrow and issue an injunction prohibiting Ellison and other officers from exercising the duties of their offices. The excitement in the city all day was so great that very little business was done. Cahoon was still besieged.

GENERAL SAMUEL F. HERSEY has been nominated as the next Republican candidate for Governor by the Bangor Whig, and the Bath Times "seconds the motion." Though a teetotaler of many years standing, General Hersey has been numbered among the extreme temperance men; but we learn that he is a strong friend of the cause and that his nomination would be satisfactory to temperance man generally.—[Waterville Mail.

Bill an act to prevent the distruction of woods on lots on its passage to be engrossed was indefinitely postponed.

Bill an act to incorporate the Georges Valley Railroad Co. was laid on the table on motion of Mr. Cushing—pending an amendment proposed by Mr. Carleton that the Georges Valley Railroad shall not be constructed within an average distance of ten miles of the Penobscot Bay and River Railroad as now surveyed.

Mr Cushing considered this amendment an absurdity, offered as it was, in the interests of a road that has not a corporate existence; the survey referred to has been made by private parties, and is not binding in any sense on the Penobscot Bay road.

Mr Carleton said if the bill reported should pass as reported, it would delay the construction of either road at least twenty years.

Mr Lang, from the Com of Conference, on bill relating to employment of teachers, reported, recommending that the Senate concur with the House. In the passage of the bill.

Mr Cleaves moved to amend the report so as to recommend the passage of the bill, giving towns authority to elect Superintending School Committees to employ teachers.

[Towns now have such authority under the Revised Statutes, sec. 10, chap. 11.—Reporter.]

Mr. Reed raised a point of order that a report of a conference was not susceptible of amendment.

The President (Mr. Bolster) sustained the point of order.

The question being on accepting the report of the conference,

Mr. Cleaves addressed the Senate at considerable length against accepting the same. He reviewed the recommendations of several officers, and showed that they are not to be relied on, as they are far from agreeing. The measure is anti-Democratic. We may as well say towns are not qualified to elect selectmen, as that district are not qualified to choose agents suitable to employ teachers. Many agents are as well qualified to employ or examine teachers as the committees.

Mr. Cleaves was very happy in his argument, although as your reporter thinks he labors under a misconception of the question, and should have exerted his energies on the other side. At the close of his remarks he was congratulated by a number of Senators.

Messrs. Nealley, French and Buffum spoke in favor of accepting the report.

Mr. Buffum showed that the schools which are now conducted as proposed in the bill are much superior to those conducted under the district plan.

Mr Talbot opposed the report.

The report was accepted on a call of the yeas and nays—16 to 11, as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Bolster, Buffum, Cushing, French, Garcelon, Gray, Hanson, Holland, Kingsbury, Lane Lang, Mayo, Minot, Morse, Nealley, and Reed—16.

Nays—Messrs. Bartlett, Carleton, Carvill, Cleaves, Collins, Fuller, Gibbs, Metcalf, Rolfe, Talbot, and Torrey—11.

Mr. Cleaves inquired if his amendment would be in order to the bill?

The chair decided that it would be in order.

Mr Cleaves offered the amendment, and called for the yeas and nays on its adoption.

The amendment was rejected—yeas 12, nays 14.

The Senate then receded and concurred with the House in passing the bill to be engrossed.

Mr. Talbot, from the Joint Select Committee on State Valuation, reported the following resolve:

Resolved. That the number of polls and amount of estates annexed to the several cities, towns and plantations in the several counties and the list of wild lands not included in the lists of towns and plantations, with the number of acres and the value thereto annexed and the aggregate of the several counties in the foregoing schedules are hereby established as the true number of polls and valuation of estates, of taxable polls and estates of this State, until further order of the Legislature.

Mr. Nealley proposed an amendment to the effect that 20 per cent of the valuation of the town of Kittery be struck off from the list.

Mr Reed hoped the the amendment would not pass. If there is any grievance it can be remedied next year. The gates must not be opened.

Mr Long thought these grievances should be attended to now. One of his townships is valued too high.

Mr. Holland thinks that this is no time to make changes.

Mr. Collins said his town was valued too high. This county has been valued 50 per cent. more than necessary.

Mr. Metcalf said that Damariscotta will suffer but favored the acceptance of the report.

Mr Talbot favored acceptance.

Mr. Garcelon thinks that future legislation can remedy the evil. The bars must not be let down now.

Mr. Cushing said it is best the Legislature should adopt the report, but protested against this method of legislation. The Commissioners report is no doubt full of errors but it we open the question of grievances we don't know where we shall end. We must go it blind.

Mr French favored acceptance.

Mr Cushing severely criticised the action of the Commissioners on valuation, and exonerated the Legislature from any blame in the failure of the reports being presented in time to proper consideration. Mr Lane said that this dissatisfaction has always been manifested. Favors acceptance.

The amendment was rejected

Mr Lang moved to postpone the matter till this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr Reed opposed this. Messrs Cushing Buffum and Talbot favored.

The mot on was carried

On motion of Mr Talbot,

Ordered, That the Senate hold two sessions daily, except Saturday, commencing at 9 a. m. and 2.30 p. m.

SENATE.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Read and assigned.

An act in regard to manufactures; an act to authorize David Tilson to extend a wharf into tide waters in Hurricane Harbor in Knox County; resolve relating to the pay of the Valuation Commission.

Passed to be enacted—

Resolve in favor of Betsey Reynolds: an act concerning insurance companies; resolve accepting the report of the Valuation Commissioners; resolve in favor of the erection of mills near the mouth of the Mattawamkeag river; an act to incorporate the Georges Valley Railroad.

On motion of Mr. Reed, bill an act to authorize cities and towns to aid in promoting manufactures therein, was tabled.

Resolve accepting the report of the State Valuation Committee on its passage to be engrossed, came up by assignment.

Mr. Lang moved to recommit the report to the Committee with instruction to value all townships and plantations, not organized as plantations, but organized for election purposes only, as wild lands.

Mr. Lang spoke to some length in favor of the motion.

The question was further discussed by Messrs. Lang, Nealley, Metcalf, Reed, and Holland.

On motion of Mr. Lang, the question was taken by yeas and nays, with the following result:

Yeas—Messrs. Collins, French, Gray, Kingsbury, Lang, Mayo, Minot, Morse and Nealley—9.

Nays—Messrs. Bartlett, Bolster, Buffum, Carleton, Carvill, Cleaves, Cushing, Fuller, Garcelon, Gibbs, Hanson, Holland, Lane, Metcalf, Reed, Rolfe, Talbot, Torrey—18.

So the Senate refused to recommit.

The resolve was then passed to be engrossed. A reconsideration was refused.

Mr. Cushing submitted the following resolve;

Resolved, That the Governor and Council in auditing bills for services of any commissioner appointed by them shall allow pay per diem for each day actually employed in the service for which they were appointed, and no more.

Mr. Cleaves opposed the passage of the resolution.

Mr. Cushing argued in favor. The commission on assumption of town war debts cost $2,500 for services never rendered, and it is a fact that members of the valuation commission have been absent for weeks at a time, which is a reason why their report was not brought in in time.

Mr Holland opposed the resolve

Mr Lang doubts the propriety of passing the resolve Would be willing t pay the commission for being absent.

The resolve was assigned for to-morrow.

Mr Lane moved to reconsider the vote whereby the Senate refused to pass a resolve in favor of erecting saw mills a the mouth of the Mattawamkeag river Carried

The bill was then passed to be engrossed

On motion of Mr Cushing, bill an act to in corporate the Georges Valley railroad company was taken from the table.

The question was upon adopting the amendment proposed by Mr. Carleton.

Mr. Cushing opposed the amendment and fully explained the action of the Committee

Mr. Carleton spoke in favor of the amendment.

Mr. Cushing entered into a lengthy argument in favor of granting the charter to the Georges Valley road. The route has been surveyed and shown to be feasible. It commences at Union Common on the Knox and Lincoln railroad, and strikes Belfast (at the head of the tide, 30 miles in length There is no opposition to the charter, except of Rockland and the town of Camden It has been caused by individuals interested in the Penobscot Bay and River railroad' which is as yet only a corporation but unorganized

Mr Corleton spoke to some length in favor of the amendment, and in opposition to granting the charter.

Brief remarks were made upon the question by Messrs. Lane Holland, Lang.

The amendment was refused a passage.

The bill was then passed to be engrossed

Mr Leed moved a reconsideration of the vote whereby the Senate passed to be engrossed bill an act to incorporate the Union Depot Company

The vote was reconsidered.

The bill passed to be engrossed.

Passed to be enacted—

An act to regulate the time and place of holding the sessions of the Commissioners of Washington County, an act to incorporate the Ship Pond Stream Navigation Company, an act relating to fees of coroners, an act to incorporate the Bath Sugar House Company, an act to authorize the State Treasurer to issue registered bonds.

Finally passed

Resolve in favor of the Maine General Hospital granting $10,000 when $30,000 shall have been raised by the trustees, and $10,000 when $50,000 shall have been raised resolve in favor of the Bath Military Orphan Asylum, granting $15 000, resolve in favor of Agricultural College, granting $22,000, and $28,000 more when perfect title is given by town of Orono. The people of Eastern Maine, and particularly of the Penobscot Valley, cannot too well appreciate the labors of Senator Buffum in behalf of this institution, coming at the work as he did, with both State and local prejudices against the college obstructing his endeavors, Orono itself having once rejected the terms imposed by the State, and the measures which he advocated for the best interests of the town and the institution, undismayed by these adverse circumstances he went at work with a determination to succeed, and by work overcome these prejudices, and has placed the institution upon a plane where it can move forward to the fulfillment of the anticipations of its friends [REPORTER]

JOHN H. LYNDE, - PROPRIETOR

MONDAY MARCH 21 1870

"MATERIAL" FOR GOVERNOR

So far, the Republican press of the State with one exception, has received the suggestion of Gen Hersey's name for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination with marked friendliness, not to mention the unqualified and hearty approval of many The exception is the Ellsworth American, one characteristic of which is that it cannot assume a position without also assuming that all other positions are unworthy and all other men than its special idols are not statesmen In the fit language of a political dyspeptic it falls foul of one of our strongest arguments when it flings at Gen Hersey for being a successful lumberman, and asserts that that is not the kind of material that other States make Governors of" The careless thoughtlessness of a statement that thus recklessly arraigns an honorable and able class of business men is unworthy of notice and we only refer to it now because an intelligent Republican in Ellsworth writes us a protest against our making any nomination without consulting the editor of the American, but assuring us that the Republicans of Hancock County will repudiate the American and indorse the nomination of General Hersey

And while we are on the subject, being reminded to indulge in reminiscence, let us ask the editor of the American if he is not unfortunately weak on his own point? His memory must at any rate be at fault When Gov Washburn was a candidate for renomination, did not Mr Sawyer advocate the nomination, instead, of Abner Coburn? And being beaten in his own town did he not then go into the Convention representing some other locality, and vote for Coburn against the almost unanimous vote of Hancock County for Washburn? And after Washburn retired, did not Mr Sawyer again take up Mr Coburn, and help nominate him? And not only that, but after a fair trial of Gov Coburn, did not Mr Sawyer labor faithfully for Gov Coburn's renomination Did Mr Sawyer forget that Gov Coburn was a lumberman, a 'kind of material' he now pretends to despise?

The shallowness of such attacks is only equalled by the evident feebleness of the American's attempt to conceal its real purpose, not having the courage to avow it All we can say to its friends is that a more judicious champion would answer the purpose fully as well. They cannot wonder if the attacks of the American upon the intelligent lumbermen, or the agriculturists, or the ship-builders, of this State are accepted as indications of a tendency toward some ulterior purpose or as a lack of judgment, either being sufficient to insure the denunciation of its own section

The fact is, we need a practical enterprising business man for Governor of a State largely composed of interests dependent upon the classes named. In General Hersey we have such a man We believe the people think so, and will nominate and elect him—We believe, furthermore, notwithstanding the flippant insinuation of the American that other States are glad of just such "material of which to make Governors

We learn from a couple of papers published in Aroostook that the coming man of that County,—in fact, the greatest man,—is Mr Daniel Stickney of Presque Isle. We have watched the signs of the times very closely and although we cannot now name the pioneer in this attempt to snatch their Daniel from the jaws of the lions in this mundane den, we nevertheless have witnessed with astonishment bordering on admiration the rapidity with which, under these newspaporial guides, the gentleman who represents his borough in the Legislature, has grown to magnificent proportions Mr Stickney may almost exclaim with another eminent journalist, "my two papers will do so and so for it" through the past fifty-two issues have they been devoted almost exclusively to his elevation A roving charter for an Aroostook Railroad becomes "Stickney's bill a new turnpike is "Stickney's pet" we judge that in their eyes pretty much all of the county is included in the general term Stickneyville and when any project is instituted for the benefit of the whole county, the gentleman from Stickneyville is placed prominently before the people Mr Stickney ought to be a happy man. He is not more unanimously loved by his friends and constituents than he is feared by his enemies In short he appears to be a perfect tower of strength all by himself—a metaphorical Chinese wall impregnable to all who attempt to invade the sanctuary of Stickneyville And finally, we have no hesitation in saying that Brother Stickney would be a most ungrateful wretch not to acknowledge himself the happiest as well as the most prominent man in Aroostook, for what more could a reasonable man ask than to be an editor and publisher of a newspaper and to have two others constantly devoted to his reputation?

The Tammany Democracy are still up to their old tricks—laboring to defeat the ends of justice The trial of those engaged in perpetrating the notorious Brooklyn election frauds was set down for last Friday District Attorney Morrill was in Court to begin the cases, but when he called for his witnesses twelve in number not one of them answered How they had been spirited away no one could tell, and attachments were at once issued against them The trial was postponed until to-day, and it is hoped the law will be strong and sharp enough to bring these fellows up with a short turn

We believe that Biddeford never was suspected of being anything but Democratic It gave a smaller Democratic majority at the late election than for five years And yet the Democratic papers trot out their great roosters and crow like heroes over it. The novelty of victory, and the necessity of creating a dust to blind the people to their waning cause is ample excuse.

Representative Hamilton of Orono made a strong and earnest speech in the House the other day in favor of the State Agricultural College. We would like to publish it, but press of other matters precludes it at present. The same subject found warm friends and eloquent advocates in Hon. Lewis Barker of Stetson, and Messrs. Humphrey of Bangor, Burgess of Portland and Smith of Saco and Senator French of Somerset.

LETTER FROM AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, March 18 1870

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

Lively times at the Capital now Both the Senate and House hold two sessions daily and business is being dispatched rapidly The adjournment question is still the main topic [illegible] and the most difficult one to answer

The Legislature passed an order yesterday which somewhat effects our city It directed the Valuation Committee to set off the sum of $17 000 from the valuation of the town of Veazie and add the same to the valuation of the city of Bangor This is a portion of the property of the late Gen Veazie which has been removed from the town since the return of the assessors last spring

The resolve appropriating $50,000 for the College of Agriculture [illegible] has passed both branches to be engrossed and will pass finally without further opposition The vote in the Senate yesterday was decisive The speech of Hon Lewis Barker in its favor in the House Wednesday was one of his most telling efforts and the friends of the institution fully appreciate his efforts in its behalf The College is now firmly and permanently established and we shall expect that it will meet the expectations of those who have so generously endowed it

The papers on the investigating Committee are at work and will soon report Though their report will not probably be so full or conclusive as it was hoped it might be It is understood that plenty of corruption has been brought to light but it is mostly on the part of private parties who cannot be reached At a late meeting the case of a Belfast firm of substitute brokers was investigated who [illegible] $18000 from one paper man and [illegible] cases are said to be numerous all over the State This accounts for the suddenness with which certain persons grew wealthy or comparatively so during the war Let us hope that every man who thus cheated the Government in its time of need will receive the punishment his villainy demands The Committee or at least a minority will report in favor of a Commission It is hinted that there is quite a respectable sized cat under the meal in the Committee's bag

The Committee on Revision of Statutes will be ready to report as soon as the business of the session is closed They have kept their work up even with that of the Legislature, the acts and resolves as fast as approved being incorporated into their proper places in the report Hon Joseph Baker the chairman of the committee, has the matter specially in charge and has performed his duties promptly and acceptably The report will be very valuable and will be looked for with much interest

Matters outside of the State House are quiet The Railroad Directors have decided to build an iron railroad bridge across the Kennebec in place of the wooden one lately swept away It is estimated to cost $100,000 and will be erected during the coming summer The injury to the Kennebec dam is not so extensive as was at first feared, but still it is of so serious a nature as to retard operations in the manufacturing establishments dependent upon its waters for motive power

The Legislative Valuation Committee in session last night voted 15 to 9 to accept the Valuation Committee's report on wild lands and all without alteration or revision

The chairman, Mr Talbot, presented their report to the Senate this forenoon, with a resolve adopting the report (see resolve in regular report.) The resolve has been under debate in the Senate and postponed till afternoon I am obliged to close my letter in time for the mail before a decision is reached, but the Senate will undoubtedly pass the resolve to be engrossed, and it will probably pass the House without alteration.

A heavy snow storm set in here last Wednesday night, continuing with violence till this morning. There is upwards of a foot of damp snow and in some places it is badly drifted.—Many of the [illegible] [illegible]

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17, 1870

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

We are having real March weather—cold and windy—the most wintery we have experienced this season The city is getting rather dull, as the reception season is nearly at an end The receptions of the President Cabinet Ministers, Mrs Grant and the wives of the Cabinet are over Speaker Blaine has a reception to-morrow evening, which will probably be the last. The New England Society have one of their delightful social reunions this evening The early part of the evening is spent in conversation interspersed with a variety of instrumental music, singing etc, and then the hall is cleared of seats and dancing is indulged in for an hour or two The admission is free, the members of the Society footing the bills All the Northern and Western States have Societies and hold "sociables" about once a month

Yesterday the Senate was crowded to hear the first speech of the first colored Senator—Mr Revels—and the papers this morning speak highly of his effort The subject was the admission of Georgia, over which there is considerable feeling in political circles He argued conclusively against the Bingham amendment, and eloquently pleaded for the protection of Southern Loyalists, black or white He denied that there was determined antagonism between the white and colored people of the South or that the colored race were bound to get the power into their own hands To send a colored Senator to Washington was a hazardous theory to both the colored race and the Republican party and had he proved unworthy of the high position it would have told heavily against us But the experiment has thus far proved a success and Mr Revels has shown himself the peer of Senators The mantle of the protector of the colored race will now fall from the shoulders of Senator Sumner upon his

All hope of the safety of the Steamer City of Boston is nearly gone Yesterday morning there was great rejoicing over the cable dispatch from London that she had arrived safely but this proved early in the afternoon as you are aware as cont[illegible] It is said that the dispatch was sent over the cable by interested parties who wished to effect insurance on the vessel or her cargo The Associated Press has offered a reward for the detection of the person who started the story but as it appears to have originated in England the offer of a reward here [illegible] amounts to anything though the agent of the Associated Press in Europe may be censurable in their action The only thing the Associated Press can do is that they [illegible] their employees to be the guilty party is to discharge him [illegible]

The Secretary of the Treasury was before the Committee of Ways and Means to-day to consult with them in reference to the Funding Bill He is very well satisfied with the bill as passed the Senate though he would have preferred that the 5th section of the bill making the interest payable abroad had been left in It was stricken out in the Senate by a pretty large majority on the sentimental idea that to pay our interest abroad would lower the dignity of the Government and thereby indirectly injure our credit abroad It is quite probable however that if the Senate had a chance to vote on it again it would reverse its former decision Massachusetts has negotiated bonds successfully in Europe for thirty years with principal and interest both payable there—The facts are, that if the interest is paid in Europe it will not cost the holders of the bonds scarcely anything to collect the interest as the responsible banking firms of Europe are willing to act as agents of the Government in paying out the interest without any charge for so doing providing the Treasury Department will let them have the gold a month or two in advance thus giving them the benefit of the interest up to the date of payment and as the Treasury has the gold in its vaults it can spare it without cost a month or two before the interest becomes due—There is a great desire on the part of the President and other officials to get the new loan afloat as soon as possible [illegible] is remarkably good abroad

Senator Morrill (of Maine) has reported the appropriation bill to the Senate with material amendments to the House bill for the purpose as it is understood of bringing the matter before a Committee of Conference between the two Houses by which the bill could be made acceptable in a much shorter time than by its discussion at length in the Senate Senator Morrill expects to be able to cut down the bill two millions or more from the [illegible] at [illegible] [illegible] the Departments than it was as passed by the House that [illegible] expects to be able to reduce the estimated expense of collecting the Internal Revenue from $8 000 000 to $7,000,000 and a small part of these large sums will go a great way towards paying clerks

The probability is that Congress will remove the income tax this year with a reduction from the present five per cent to three per cent, and an exemption of $1,500 instead of $1,000

The Morning News a penny paper started here about the first of January suspended publication yesterday rather to the surprise of its numerous patrons The cause of its death is stated in its valedictory was want of funds to keep it afloat and the reason why the funds were wanting was not because its circulation was small but its advertisements—the great source of profit in all newspapers—were not sufficient Two or three times as many copies of it were sold daily as of any other city paper but it takes a great many single cents to keep a newspaper moving

The Season and its Dangers

The human body is chiefly composed of tissues and fibres as sensitive [illegible] changes of the atmosphere as the [illegible] is to the quicksilver in a barometer tube.

The stomach the skin the nerves the [illegible] and the excretory organs are especially liable to be affected by these variations and the best defence against their disastrous tendency is to keep the digestive machinery which feeds and nourishes the whole system, in good working order

If the stomach is weak or disordered neither the blood nor the bile can be in a healthy state and upon the fitness of these two important fluids for [illegible] assigned to them by nature and the regularity of their flow, health in a great measure depends

When the air is heavily laden with chilling vapors as it often is at this season of the year, the digestion should be an object of peculiar care If it is weak and languid the whole physical structure will be enervated If it is vigorous, the entire organization will be strong to resist the untoward and depressing influence of a damp and vitiated atmosphere

A pure and powerful tonic is therefore especially needed as a safeguard against the diseases most common in the spring, and Hostetter's Stomach Bitters being the most wholesome and potent medicine of the class at present known, a course of it is particularly advisable at this period of the year The stomach will thereby be toned and strengthened, the liver and bowels regulated, the nervous system braced up and nature put in a state of active defence against the [illegible] [illegible]

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19.

Senate not in session.

HOUSE.

The House met for debate on the Tariff Bill, but no members seeking the floor, the House immediately adjourned.

TROUBLES IN RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, Va., March 19.

At daylight this morning when Mayor Cahoon's police were being stationed, Mayor Ellison's police went around and arrested them all. They also stripped them of the badges and disarmed them. Those of the Cahoon force who were not caught, took refuge in the station-house. At noon the Second Police Station surrendered to the Ellison police.

Early this morning the U. S. Marshal served a notice to Mayor Ellison, the Chief of Police and City Council, that Cahoon would move before Judge Underwood, of the U. S. Court, on Wednesday, for an injunction to restrain them from acting.

Mayor Cahoon held a Court this morning, as also did Mayor Ellison.

There has been no disturbance to-day.

Cahoon's force is reduced to about 30 men, and are shut up in the station-house, and Ellison's force numbering about 250 have possession of the city.

Gov. Walker to-day addressed a letter to Gen. Canby, after stating the fact that the military had interfered to prevent the Mayor of the city, and qualified according to law, from performing the duties of his office, in the seeming intention of enabling a mere pretender to that office to discharge its duties. He asserts that this action was taken without any request of the Legislature, or other civil authority of the State, and asks by what law or authority Gen. Canby does this.

General Cany replies that the interference was not to aid the contestant but only to prevent a breach of peace, and his authority for such action is from the President and Secretary of War, and precedents which he says he has cited to the Governor before. His duty he thinks, until matters are adjusted by law, is to interfere and preserve the public peace.

SUICIDE.

BOSTON, March 19.

Benjamin A. Smith shot himself last night at St. James Hotel, where he boarded. He left a note stating that his family were in New York, and that he was friendless, pennyless, and discouraged, and desired to have his body interred at Mount Auburn.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

NEW YORK, March 19.

A letter from a well known American fillibustre, who is now with the Cuban army, gives details of the fight on New Year's day at Minas, where it appears that by reason of the intrenchments across the road and the restraining of their force until Puellos' force of 2.000 picked men, en masse, were only 30 yards distant, the utmost havoc was made in the Spanish ranks,

Gen. Jordan had only 548 men and one small cannon.

The letter states that three times were the well trained Spanish infantry brought to the charge in a solid mass in platoons, and as often reeled, broke and fell back, fearfully cut up by the Cuban fire.

While Puello was preparing for a fourth charge, Gen. Jordan finding his ammunition nearly exhausted, withdrew his men at a walk, coolly and calmly, the men highly elated with the severe punishment inflicted on the enemy.

None fought better in the ranks than the negroes and Chinese, and General Jordan is loud in his praise of them.

The Spaniards burned their dead on the field, and retreated seven miles to fortify themselves in a strong position, where they remained two weeks without daring to leave their intrenchments even for food, which became very scarce.

Their loss included 200 killed and buried on the field, and 150 who died and were buried in their refuge.

This is beyond doubt as our men disinterred the dead to obtain their clothing. A deserter confirms this Spanish loss and place their wounded at about 300, making their total loss exceed the number of our men engaged in the battle. Our loss was 2 killed and 12 wounded.

The fight reminded one of the ambush of Braddock at Fort Duquesne, and had we an abundance of ammunition Puello's command would have been cut off to a man.

Gen. Jordan, after thus punishing Puello, subsequently met Goyenche with his 3000 Spanish soldiers, and laid the same trap for him, but by an accident Goyenche was enabled to escape with only a loss of 150 men.

Gen. Jordan is highly indignant at the falsehood circulated in American papers by Capt.-Gen. De Rodas, that he had offered to surrender.

Col. Regan, and Capts. Peters, Johnson, Warren and other American soldiers, are with the Cuban army.

The recent landing of Cisreno and others with arms and ammunition has given renewed courage to the Cuban cause.

DISAPPEARANCE.

NEW YORK, March 19.

Relative to the disappearance of Collector Bailey it has been ascertained that the Collector was last seen on Tuesday at the Fullerton trial, in which he testified as a witness.—He did not visit his office on Wednesday, and on that night his principal deputy, Mr. Vail, received a note through the mail stating that he was about to leave the city. That he was sorry to do so, and wanted to bid his friends good by. The next day his office was taken possession of by the agents of the Internal Revenue Department and an examination of the books at once began. The officials assert that so far the accounts are all correct, and they are utterly at a loss to account for Mr. Bailey's flight. His family are also ignorant of his whereabouts.

MURDER TRIAL.

NEW YORK, March 19.

The King County Commissioner of Jurors yesterday received an order from Judge Barnard, holding Court at Poughkeepsie, directing him to draw a panel of 500 jurors, from which to draw 12 men to try Edwin Perry for the murder of the watchman, Edwin Hayes. The trial is set down for the first Monday in April.

THE DOMINION WANTS TRADE.

OTTAWA, March 19.

On Monday next Sir A. T. Galt will move the following amendment to Mr. Huntington's resolution, that an address be presented to his Excellency, the Governor-General, representing that the increasing production of the Dominion demand a more extensive market, and a more unrestricted interchange of commodities with other Countries. That great advantage would result from placing the Government of the Dominion in direct communication with all the British Possessions and Foreign States, which might be willing to negotiate for commercial arrangements tending to this result. That it is expedient to obtain from the Imperial Government all necessary forms to enable the Government of the Dominion to enter into a direct communication for such a purpose with the British Possessions and Foreign States, and that in all cases such proposed commercial arrangements shall be subject to the approval of Her Majesty.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

—The new City Government will be organized this morning in City Hall at 10 o'clock, and the Mayor will deliver his address. The galleries will be reserved for the ladies. Ex Mayors and City Officers are expected to take seats on the platform.

WHO OWNS IT? A letter came to the Post Office in this city directed to "Mr. R Robinson, care of Mr. John Brown, French St., Greenville, Bangor Township, County Hancock, District Maine, New York, America." It would be singular, certainly, if Mr Robinson should fail to receive his letter.

—A party of four gentlemen from our city have just returned from a fishing tour to Orneville Pond having fully realized their anticipations. The result of their fishing was the catching of one hundred and fifty fine pickerel and trout and they were absent from the city but four days.

ATTEMPTED RUNAWAY. A horse with evidently a very easily satisfied disposition, while hitched on Main Street Saturday afternoon, becoming frightened at a snow slide, attempted to run away around the hitching post, breaking the sleigh and harness into numerous pieces.

GRAND DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT. To-night the Hibernian Society will give their postponed entertainment at Norombega Hall. "Dora" and "The Dead Shot," are the plays, and there will be a song by a Bangor lady. The club deserve to be patronized, and we have no doubt they will receive a good benefit.

—The Rhetorical Society will hold a public meeting at the Seminary Chapel this (Monday) evening at 7 o'clock. The exercises will consist of a Disseration, Select Reading and a Discussion of the following question "Should the death penalty be inflicted immediately upon the declaration of the sentence." The public are invited.

REMOVALS. The following removals were caused by the fire of Friday night last: D. Bugbee & Co., have established themselves at No. 20, Main Street; Messrs. Hurley on Exchange street; W. H. THE EATON FAMILY SCHOOL. Since this school was established, it has been steadily growing in public favor until it has gained rank among the very best in the State. See advertisement for time of opening, &c.

STRANGE AND MYSTERIOUS DISCOVERY. SKELETON IN THE CLOSET. The Dexter Gazette says on Wednesday last a physician, having made arrangements for the future occupancy of rooms on Main Street, was busily engaged in the renovation of the same, when he penetrated the obscurity of a mysterious recess, and discovered an old sack. Being naturally of an investigating turn of mind, however, he immediately proceeded to examine its mysteries, and imagine what must have been his horror, to say the least, on which he found to contain, with some exceptions, an entire human skeleton! Determined to ferret out the mystery, if possible, he continued his investigations in the dark nook which had now assumed so tragic a character. Near the place where the skeleton had been quietly resting no one can tell how long, was found a considerable quantity of human hair, an old hat, an ancient looking pair of boots, which bore marks of violence, having evidently been cut in several places with a knife or some other sharp instrument, and also three bottles, one of which contained a medicinal preparation, compounded by a firm which did business in this place in years past, and the other two contained nothing palpable, though certain circumstances would seem to indicate that nefarious work had been going on, though at what date it cannot be stated. The thick coating of dust upon the bones and also the sack which enveloped them indicate that these mortal remains had been resting undisturbed for a long space of time. The Gazette adds. What the solution of the mystery may be we cannot say, but the "subject" is certainly a grave one, and we leave it for the curious to arrive at whatever conclusion they may upon the matter of these ghastly relics, and to decide whether or not any explanation of their previous history is to be found in the more immediate surroundings.

—The Portland Press of Thursday, reports the storm there as being very violent. At a late hour Wednesday night, officer Decelle discovered that a brig lying at the head of Commercial wharf was beating heavily against the wharf. Her jib-boom was carried away, her bulwarks stove in, and her sides were badly chafed. The wharf was also considerably damaged. Several other vessels in the harbor were threatened with injuries, and we fear that we may have a considerable number of disasters to record!

—The Press says that a kettle of fat caught from the restaurant of Rufus Waite, Portland on Tuesday afternoon, and, after being taken off and placed on the floor, water was thrown around it to prevent the flames spreading. The water came in contact with the lard, an explosion took place and Mr Waite was knocked up three stairs and the cellar door burst open. The flames were extinguished with difficulty.

—The schooner Ida Hudson, of Rockland was on Saturday ashore near Ward's Island, Hell Gate but will probably get off in a few days.

A REMARKABLE CASE. In the Maine Legislature, Wednesday, Mr. Metcalf presented a resolve in favor of giving Betsey Reynolds of Burnham, a pension during her life and made the following statement of facts.

Mrs. Betsey Reynolds widow of John Reynolds, of Burnham, sent four sons, two sons-in-law, and one grandson to the war, neither of whom returned to tell their story. They all died defending our flag. When the war closed she was left with thirty-one orphan grandchildren, made so by the war. Her only surviving son, who is lame, volunteered but was rejected on account of his lameness. Mrs Reynolds is now dependent on her own labor for her livelihood. Seven of her orphan grandchildren were taken into the Bath Asylum.

Rev J. P Longley and several ministers of other denominations have been laboring there with good success. In East Pittsfield for the past six months there has been quite a revival.—During last fall and this winter, Rev. E. Harding has been laboring half the time as missionary in the Ellsworth Free Baptist Q. M., with good success. In Waltham eleven have been converted. The church on Bluehill Neck has been revived, and several are now inquiring the way to Christ. Howe has resigned the pastoral charge of the Free Baptist church a Harrison, to take effect May 1st.

—The Portland Press is glad to hear that the report that Mr. Partridge had died from the effect of the railroad accident at Saco, on Saturday, is groundless. He is at his home in West Buxton, and received internal injuries, which caused bleeding at the stomach, but the prospects for his recovery are favorable

—The second trial of Wm. G. Kinsbury for inciting the burning of the Baptist meeting house in South China, is now in progress before the Supreme Court in Augusta. On a former trial the jury failed to agree upon a verdict. The case excites intense interest among the people of China, and the Court House is crowded with spectators to listen to the proceedings

—The Press says that a young man on Tuesday, picked up on a vacant lot on Temple Street, Portland, a couple of wallets containing two notes, one for $119 and the other for $2500, besides other papers. They were stolen from the pockets of Franklin Heald and William M Ripley during the Peabody ceremonies

—Mr Orin Shaw has sold his horse "Prince Harry" to parties in New York for $5000 It is said He has also sold "Penobscot Chief" to same parties for $3,500, as reported

VALUATION OF WILD LANDS. The aggregates of valuation, according to the Commissioners' report, for each County containing wild lands, are as follows:

	Acres	Valuation
Aroostook,	2 713.982	$1,155,591
Franklin,	477.738	172,000
Hancock,	345,494	279,150
Oxford,	208,268	106,100
Penobscot,	704,020	540,415
Piscataquis,	1 073,719	1,442,600
Somerset	1,032,460	912,450
Washington,	616,467	517,150
Total,	8,066,487	$5,156,393

The five millions and upwards, fixed as the valuation of the wild lands of Maine by the Commissioners, added to the value of estates previously reported give two hundred and twenty four millions ($224,822,000) as the total valuation of the State for 1870, as against one hundred and sixty two millions ($162,158,781) in 1860, an increase of sixty two millions ($62,664,329.)

NARROW ESCAPE. The Dexter Gazette says on Monday last, three sons of Mr E. G. Nichols, of Corinna, were at work in the woods about a mile and a half from the house, and about 4 o'clock two of them started for home, leaving Elbridge behind, who said that he would work a few minutes longer. About three-quarters of an hour after, he arrived at the house with his face very badly bruised and one eye entirely closed. He could not then remember and cannot now, when he received his injuries. The two other boys at once went into the woods, and it was seen that the tree on which he was at work, (a birch about two feet in diameter) had fallen upon a small birch tree, and bent it over. He had cut into the latter when it split up, apparently striking him upon the face, and throwing him several feet. Marks of blood were seen in several places, and from impressions in the snow he had fallen down several times after he had started for home. It is plain that he had a very narrow escape from being killed, but is hoped that he received no permanent injury.

—Rev. N. C. Everett has removed from Danbury, N. H., to Islesboro', Me., where he is to labor with the Second Baptist church.

—The Bath Times waxes eloquent. Hear it. "Bath will take her place as one of the choicest among our enterprising cities along the coast of the State, whose facilities for up country trade or for ocean passage to Boston and New York or in manufacturing ability is not surpassed in situation by that of any other of our Eastern towns. Things are in the saddle, and increasing, Maine is waking up, while the tenor of colloquial talk all over our city is that of energy, enterprise, activity and zeal for the future. The West is a glorious land, the South hath its delights, but for water privileges, fine rivers, grand harbors, lakes innumerable and a soil that needs but the tiller's charm, not to speak of its sons and daughters, the old Down East State of Maine takes its position chief among the greatest, the most brilliant jewel in our country's coronet."

—By the efforts of Principal and scholars of the Augusta High School, through a Levee and a course of lectures, a fund of $500 has been realized for its benefit, says the Maine Farmer.

CONSULTATION WITH THE PRESIDENT

The Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee called on the President today, Secretary Boutwell being of the party. The subjects of the Funding bill and the reduction of taxation were discussed for some time. The President strongly favored both measures. The modifications of the tax bill, nearly ready to be reported will show some reduction

PREPARATIONS FOR TAKING THE CENSUS

Gen Walker, Superintendent of the census is driving the preparatory work with despatch. New plates for all the blanks are undergoing the electrotyping process. Amendments to the old bill be proposed, repealing the clause making it necessary for a third copy of all returns of each county to be filed at the county seat, thus saving one third of the expense of printing and at the same time securing greater privacy for the affairs of all individuals. A circular will be issued in a few days giving such information as will enable people to avoid being imposed upon by persons who may attempt to act without authority and ask unauthorized questions. Under the old bill additional compensation was allowed in California and other Western sections. Office of FISKE & HATCH,

Bankers and Dealers in Government Securities,

No. 5 Nassau Street, New York,

February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, and the popularity and credit which these Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely-located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

First Mortgage Bonds

OF THE

CHESAPEAKE and OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other.

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West-Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and cooperation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable, and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 350 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value, in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of $1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds payable to the Bearer and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless reassigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detatched and cancelled, the Bond make a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only to the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as

1st. 'Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer.'

2d. 'Registered Bonds with Coupons attached.'

3d. 'Registered Bonds with Coupons detached,' and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and active traffic.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded, and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the markets, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,

FISK & HATCH,

Bankers.

P. S. We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances.

CHAP II

"Come, Mabel."

And Mabel hastened to tie a pair of rose-colored bonnet strings under her plump little chin, and with an "I'm ready" on her lips was about to answer her brother's summons when Hannah's face appeared in the open doorway:

"Was you jest agoin' to call on them new folks over the way, maom?"

"Yes —why?"

"Why, I jest wanted ter say," and Hannah lowered her voice confidentially "that, seein' that Phrony Hines has gin 'em the slip, p'raps you could put in a word for our Melissy She is out of a place, now, an' if she could get a chance, I'll risk but that she could suit She aint got none o' Phrony's set up notions"

Mabel laughed, good naturedly.

"Really, Hannah," she said, "I'm afraid it wouldn't do for me to introduce the subject, in this, my first call, on such a grand lady then noticing the girl's downcast look, she added encouragingly.

"If there's the least opening I'll speak a good word for Melissa, you may be sure"

And as she walked demurely down the garden walk, at her brother's side she thought, with a dash of girlish perversity

"I've half a mind to speak of it, on purpose to shock them out of their primness Wouldn't their high mightinesses stare to hear me say 'don't you want some more help in your kitchen? If you do, I've got one all picked out for you.' And wouldn't they compare notes when my back was turned, on the presumption and vulgarity of American femininity!"

This in anticipation, but when she met the look of Margaret Morton's clear, honest eyes, and listened to her sweet, cordial words, in which there was not an echo, even, of the anticipated aorrgance, the foolish fancies also vanished, and in their stead arose the more amiable as well as natural desire to please and attract these new neighbors, whose good opinion had suddenly become so desirable a matter to her

Even the fair haired cousin was admitted to be a handsome, well bred young man, who didn't presume at all, upon his title, while Mr Morton's stiff old fashioned courtesy proved an agreeable change for the time, from the easy, often rough familiarity of ordinary village society

"An agreeable family," she thought, "without a particle of that silly exclusiveness that I looked for I'm glad now, that I said just what I did to Mrs Parkman, and ——

"By the way, Miss Hamilton—"

They were seated somewhat apart from the others, and Margaret lowered her voice, confidentially as if not wishing to attract their attention to the subject of her conversation

"Can you tell me where to look for a trusty, capable girl to fill the place of cook? The one who was here when we came, left this morning, and I haven't the least idea where to look for another, as there is no intelligence office here, and I don't like to send to the city, so I am in something of a predicament."

The very subject broached, and by Margaret, herself, and Mabel laughed, a silent little laugh within and at herself, while she said, with an air of grave assurance

"I think I know just the one for you. My own maid of all work has a sister who is out of employment now, a steady, capable girl, who would be glad of the place I'll send her to you to-morrow, if you would like to have me"

"Thank you It will be a great favor to me if you will," was the hearty reply, and she added, in an explanatory tone

"I have had no experience in housekeeping, for, since I left school, we have been travelling in different parts of Europe most of the time and, now that we are really settled, for the first time, since I was a child in a home of our own I naturally feel ambitious to make it a pleasant, well-ordered one where my father will find the rest and comfort that he needs in his declining years"

Mabel caught the mingled look of tenderness and reverence with which the concluding words were accompanied, and the friendly interest that had, half unconsciously, been awakened in her heart toward the gentle stranger grew warmer still

"I shall be delighted to do anything that I can to help you," she said, impulsively, "for," she added laughing, "I am vain enough of my own skill in the culinary department, especially, to feel competent to teach anybody, if they happen to know less than I do about it"

"A safe reservation!" laughed Margaret, but she continued with a graver face, "I'm really afraid I don't understand just how to get along with the kind of servants that we have here I don't mean to be unjust or harsh, and yet this girl who has just left me seemed to feel herself most cruelly maltreated I don't know"——

"There, there cousin Margy," interrupted Donald at her elbow, "dinna fash yersel' about it, at a' Just tell Miss Hamilton the hail story, an' see what she aye says aboot the matter"

Margaret shook her head, looking rather embarrassed, but Donald was persistent

"Come noo," he urged, laughing at his cousin's appealing look, "it's unco' gude to keep to our ain sel's, an' the young leddy'll enjoy the fun I'll be boun'"

Mabel hastened to join in the request, and Margaret, thus urged, went on to tell how the deserting "Phronia" had, on the evening before her departure, taken the liberty to borrow, without leave, her mistress' hat and shawl, to wear on one of her calling excursions in the neighborhood, and when confronted in the hall, on her return home, with the purloined articles on her person, she had assumed an air of the most superb indifference, cooly asking the young lady if she should carry them up stairs or leave them on the hat-tree where she found them?

"I told her," continued Margaret, "as calmly as I could, that I could not allow my servants to borrow my clothes without leave It was something that I had never been accustomed to, and that this must be the last of such liberties.

"She didn't say much then, only muttered something about 'outlandish meannesses,' but the next morning as soon as breakfast was over she walked into the sitting room with her bonnet and shawl on, and informed me that she'd like to 'settle,' for she'd 'made up her mind that she couldn't be contented with the kind of folks that we'd turned out to be.

She never'd helped in a family before where she wasn't asked to the table, and made as much of as if she'd been an own cousin at the very least. That when she lived to Square Grampuses' she'd been taken time an agin for one of his daughters, for she an the girls always borrowed things back an forth, an now she shouldn't demean herself to do drudgery for folks that begrutched her an old hat to put on while hern was bein bleached."

"I tried to get in a word, now and then, but I only succeeded in provoking a fresh storm of invective, the head and front of every accusation seeming to be that I "felt myself above her," in proof whereof I had spoken of her as a servant, and had acted "grouty" as she called it, about her borrowing my hat.

"At last, I gave up, in despair, and Miss Phronia retired from the field, triumphant, coolly informing me [illegible] that I'd [illegible] for them that drudged for me."

Margaret's audience laughed heartily at this narration of her first experience with Yankee femininity in the kitchen, and Hamilton remarked jocosely

"It is evident this Phronia is fitted by nature for a higher position than the one she now occupies Her talents are worthy of a diplomat, as is proved by her readiness in turning the tables upon you —in placing herself in the position of accuser instead of accused"

"We do not have such servants as that in England," observed Mr Morton, significantly "Our servants know their place, and they usually keep it, too

Mr Hamilton smiled meaningly

"Yes I should judge so by an incident that I heard a short time since of a young lord who found the insolence and assumption of a certain old servitor of his house so unbearable, that in his desperation he informed him that they must part, that he could not and would not live longer under the same roof with him

"'Indeed' was the cool reply 'where does your lordship think of going?'"

Here we have, at least, the privilege of turning them off unless" and he nodded slyly toward Margaret, who with the others was listening intently to the conversation, "they forestall our intentions by leaving of their own accord"

Mr Morton looked slightly annoyed as what Englishman is not at a joke upon old world ways and customs but he was too much of a gentleman to express his disapproval and he only said with an assumption of indifference

"An exaggerated case no doubt. But seriously Mr Hamilton is it not a proof of the ill effect of a republican form of government this impudent assumption of equality in these low born ignorant people? Does it not prove the absurdity and impossibility of that very unnatural and consequently mischievous standpoint of republicanism that All men are born free and equal this continual aping of those above them and this constant striving to get above the station in which it has pleased God to place them?"

"Not at all!" and Mark Hamilton's calm face lighted up as he spoke This very striving aping as you call it although shown in grotesque and often disagreeable form proves of itself, the truth of this doctrine of equality Is it not better for any man however low his station to make an effort to rise than to sit down supinely in his wretchedness under the impression that because he was born there it is his duty to stay there for ever?

"Why, it would be just as sensible for a man to say that, because he was born a baby it was his duty never to discard the swaddling clothes and helplessness of infancy

"To my mind there is a hope, a foreshadowing of better days to come, for our poorer classes, in this very spirit of imitation that you condemn.

"For instance, this Phronia borrows (surreptitiously) her mistress' hat, to adorn her own frowsy head,—and why? The reason is obvious,—she wishes to look like a lady, which wish, may, if properly encouraged go far toward making her one Let every lady in the land cultivate the graces of her mind and heart as carefully as she now does those of her person, and will not her humbler sisters catch the inspiration and learn to look upon ignorance with its long train of sin and misery with as much aversion as they are fast learning to contemplate an ugly or ill fitting dress?"

The ladies looked their approval while Mr Morton remarked in his coolly ironical fashion

"Your position has some show of reason in it, perhaps when applied to your native born American citizen, but how in regard to the foreign element, which is as you and I both know largely composed of the most ignorant and unreliable race in all Europe? And yet you offer them equal political rights with the noblest, most enlightened man among you"

"Yes," and there was a thrill of glad triumph in Mark's tones as he made the admission

"Yes, thank God! we can and do offer him a share in those privileges that will arouse whatever there is of manhood in his bosom hidden and smothered as it has been for generations, by the dust and cobwebs of ancient custom, and ignorant superstition

"By the pulpit, the school and the rostrum we are letting the pure fresh air of truth into his darkened soul and we wait in patience and hope, feeling sure that the work must be accomplished in time"

"Little prospect of it I should say" replied Mr Morton with as near an approach to a sneer as his politeness would allow but there was no cloud on Mark's brow as he answered hopefully

The prisoner just released from his dark dungeon finds himself dazzled and bewildered by the light around him and so with the ignorant emigrant who comes to us from across the ocean

"He comes from a land where the master and servant are two distinct and separate classes, from the cradle to the grave with little hope or possibility of change He comes to a land where if he has the natural talent and capacity necessary to his elevation he may climb as high as he will with no aristocratic baton to give his scull a rap if he manages to get above what some other fellow beings or beings have set down as his sphere.

"He may occupy the highest position in the land, although his father may have been a hod-carrier, and his grandfather a half starved Irish peasant And is it any wonder that this new and wonderful sense of free dom—freedom to do and be within lawful limits, whatever he chooses should show itself in odd and disagreeable forms?"

"But granting that all this is so and Mr Morton's tone was coldly sarcastic to those of us who have no ambition for playing the part of a missionary to these very unpromising heathen, the prospect is not at all improved by your view of it. I would prefer a servant who understands making my coffee and keeping my house in order and who has never a thought above or beyond these things to one who is so taken up with watching and imitating my graces and excellences that he salts instead of sweetening my coffee and lets the steak burn while he is studying the subject of political economy

A smile ran round the circle but Mr Hamilton said gravely, almost solemnly

"Ease and comfort are usually preferred to care and toil by the best of us but it is not preference but duty to which we are to look as a guide.

The material may be hard to mould but it must be moulded, and by the hands of those whom nature and circumstance have fitted for the work or it will be a constant clog upon the wheels of progress in our land."

Mr Morton tapped thoughtfully the lid of his silver snuff-box, but he said nothing, and Donald, who had been listening with much interest to the conversation remarked with much vehemence

"It's the Prelacy—there's the rub! The material is nae sae bad, but its unco hard for a puir soul wi' a priest on his back to stan up like a mon," and Donald sighed reflectively

"There spoke out a descendant of the Covenanters," [illegible] "His creed is [illegible]

bonnie Scotland and hate the very name o' Rome? For where is the land has suffered mair than she from her cruel malice? Her purple heather has been drenched wi' the bluid of slaughtered mithers an, their bairns, and her mountain caves an, cairns are white wi their banes

"Ilka ha an cottage in the land has aye a tale to tell of nae forgotten trial an persecution,—of forbears wha laid them crously down in their bluidy graves that athe land o' their luve might be saved fra this vera baff Is it strange that a leal Scotchman and hate Popery?"

This was a long speech for Donald whose mode of expressing himself was usually rather concise than otherwise and it was curious to mark the different ways with which his listeners received it.

Mr Morton thrummed carelessly upon the table beside him, apparently half oblivious of his nephew's words. Mark Hamilton's intelligent face lighted up appreciatively while the two young ladies, forgetful for the moment, of all but the unexpected outburst of feeling to which they had just listened, leaned forward their fair faces aglow with sympathy to which Margaret was not slow to give utterance

"It is not strange that you should feel deeply upon this subject," she said, in a low tone as her small hand closed over the one that rested beside her with a gentle pressure that told of true sympathy

"I too should have remembered the field of Killicrankie, and not have spoken so light of it upon a subject that we at least should approach with reverence

Donald's answer was lost to the rest of the group by Mr Morton's asking abruptly, and turning as he spoke to Mabel whose fair cheek flushed a little at the suddenness of the question

"I suppose, as you were so near a neighbor to my cousin Miss Seymore, that you met her frequently Did you see her during her last sickness I would like very much to know the particulars of her death but have as yet seen no one who could give me any information upon the subject

He was watching her with—as Mabel thought—unnecessary sharpness, and in spite of herself she could not control the hot blood that mounted to cheek and brow as she met the half suspicious look of those cold gray eyes that scanned her face so keenly but she answered, I to say rather confusedly for it was an awkward thing to intimate to a relative of the deceased lady that she was unsocial and forbidding to the last degree

"No I—I am sorry to say that I had not the pleasure of an acquaintance with Miss Seymore She was not a very social person I believe for Mabel felt rather than saw the surprise that this announcement gave to her new friends and she felt that the truth must be told for her own justification "She had literally not an acquaintance in the village and no one felt that they had a right to intrude upon her in her hours of sickness and death

Mr Morton sighed heavily while his daughter's face wore a look of pained surprise not unmixed with disappointment as she said in an eager tremulous voice

"Is it possible that cousin Kate as papa always calls her could have been that sort of a person I have always heard her described as a brilliant sparkling beauty fond of society and eminently fitted to charm it and she glanced inquiringly toward her father who answered evasively

"Time makes great changes in us all and we cannot expect our friends to remain the same forever

"As I remember her, said Donald meditatively she was not so brilliant or sparkling but a beautiful gloomy lassie the leddy o' Lochleven whose heart turned to stone wi' the tears she aye scorned to shed

"What I've heard of this old Scottish superstition you have managed to treasure up Donald remarked Mr Morton pettishly and rising from his seat he passed out into the hall where he stood leaning against the open door that led to the piazza within easy reach of his guests voices and apparently absorbed in the contemplation of the moonlit landscape stretching out beyond and as Mabel glanced toward him with cheery eyes she wondered that his face should look so white in the moonlight, and that he should so often press his hand to his brow as if in deep and painful thought

And that evening as the brother and sister walked slowly home through the silvery evening mist some odd half-defined fancies filled the young girl's head silencing her merry chat and making her replies to her brother's remarks unusually short and grave

The mystery about that strange woman grows deeper still but I believe that proud silent man could unravel it if he would and with this reflection Mabel laid her shining head upon its pillow, to dream that Donald McDonald and herself were hiding away in a cave from the vengeance of a band of Catholic soldiers led on by Miss Seymore in a trooper's boots and pistols while Mr Morton perched upon the top of a high rock, flourished an immense scroll of parchment as a flag of truce to avert the threatened danger
